The text of resolutions on the death of Thomas L. Shevlin, 1906, adopted by the Yale University Athletic association made public Saturday, say in part: "Thomas Shevlin's influence at all times reflecte dhis own personal-ity—powerful and clean. By his own example he inspired others to success. He invariable taught fair play to those associated with him and never the gospel of winning at any cost."

Gene McCann is doing his level best to get some of his best men of the 1914 championship New London club and a recent acquisition reported is the purchase of Tony Marhefka, last reason with the Syracuse club of the New York State League. Manager Mike O'Neil had intimated several weeks ago that Marhefka would not be with the stars in the coming cam-paign, but the actual sale of the play-er is questioned. It is more likely that McCann let Syracuse have the infielder with the understanding that if New London ever wanted him again Marhefka was to be returned.

Conflicting Advices from Washington Was a Deterrent Factor.

New York, March 6 .- Aside from obvious manipulation in an unusual va-riety of special stocks, today's mar-ket was rather duil, though consistently strong during the early part of the session, attention continued to focus on Washington, but advices from that center were too conflicting for the most part to justify resumption of active trading.

The professional side of the mar-ket was further evidenced by the steady lack of inquiry for erstwhile favorites, particularly rails.
